About the Author

Gary Robson is a tea blogger and owner of a tea bar in, of all places, a small town in Montana. He started out in the technology world and became a vocal advocate of closed captioning on television for deaf and hard-of-hearing people. In his endless quest to figure out what he's going to be when he grows up, he has been granted a couple of patents, teamed up with family members to start an electronics business and a software business, run a small newspaper and a bookstore, taught computer science, written 20 books about poop, raised some cattle, done a little standup comedy, put on seminars all over the country, given a TED (well ... TEDx) talk, and competed in rodeos. Luckily for him, Gary's wife and kids are good at smiling tolerantly and putting up with him. "Myths & Legends of Tea, Volume 1" is Gary's 25th book.

MYTHS & LEGENDS OF TEA, VOLUME 1 BY GARY D ROBSON PDF

Gary Robson is as much in love with the stories of different tea styles as he is with the tea itself. He is frequently found standing in his tea shop telling the tales: the poor farmer who cleaned up a temple and was given a special tea plant by the goddess Guanyin as his reward, the mandarin who added bergamot oil to an English earl's tea to compensate for the calcium in the water and created one of the western world's most popular teas, the tea master who performed one last tea ceremony after he was ordered by his daimyo to commit seppuku.

Gary has taken each of these tales and retold it in his own style. Some of the stories are entirely legend, their origins lost in the mists of time. Some are based heavily on fact. Some will be familiar to any tea aficionado. Some are purely the product of his own imagination. In all of them, he focuses on building a sense of the time, the setting, and the characters — bringing the stories of tea to life. In his Myths and Legends of Tea series, his wondrous stories are put into print for the first time.

This first volume in the series features seven stories, each accompanied by a profile of the tea featured in the story. The stories span six countries (China, Japan, England, U.S., Taiwan, and Australia) and over 4,700 years.

Storytelling At It's Best

By Jo

This is storytelling at its best. This is a must read for those who have already heard the myths and know the legends. Gary creates a whole new look to what we already know and adds wit and humor along the way. Thanks Gary.

To tea or not to tea

By Robson Designs

Gary, goes into great detail describing the various teas and their history. I especially liked the post-apocalyptic earl gray tea story. Gary is a fertile writer, maybe it's because of all the tea he drinks.
