A very very nice book

By Kosovar

I only made a cup of coffee for myself, that's the only break I had while I was reading this book which was the very first by Mr. De Bono. I couldn't put it down and even though this book could have been so complicated it isn't at all - as a matter of fact it was the author's goal to be as simple as possible with his ways of teaching us how to think properly. And with some effort I should be able to think properly now when I read this book. I knew I am gaining something with the humiliation I made to myself by choosing the book to teach me of something that "I already know"!!!

I love this book!

By S. Mubarak

Teach Yourself to Think, this book is a precious one! It really helps you to think! What I personally admired about this book is that it doesn't really tell me what to think or what i should be thinking about but it shows me how many of these different kinds of thinking can benefit me in my daily life! Furthermore, after being aware of these various kinds of thinking, I've been able to achieve some of my personal goals which I wanted to achieve them along time ago, about a year ago! Thank you Edward de Bono for this rare book! Im planning on reading some of the other books of yours out there!

A Navigation Tool for Thinking

By More Adonis

This is one of my favored books of dr. Edward de Bono. I even bought copies and send to my friends without telling them who is the sender. I figured that after they read this book they could signal me it's language in silent fonts ...

Edward at his best guides you from focusing on your target site to entering it's secret space to seeing it from many angles and alternative ways to view something and then settling to what fits best the situation ... before taking a leap to action.

This book even made my dreaming mind create better dreams!
